

Avi Domb earned Bachelor's degrees in Chemistry, Pharmaceutics and Law studies, Diploma in Polymers and Textiles and in Business Administration, and PhD degree in Chemistry from The Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He did his postdoctoral training at Syntex Inc. CA, USA; Harvard Univ. Medical School; MIT, Dept. Chemical Engineering, Cambridge, MA USA. He was Senior Scientist at the Biological Institute, Ness Ziona, Israel and R&D manager at Nova Pharm. Co. Baltimore USA. Since 1991 he is a faculty member of the School of Pharmacy-Faculty of Medicine, Hebrew university. During 2007-2012 he headed the Division of Forensic Science at the Israel Police. During 2014-2016 he served as President of the Jerusalem College of Engineering (JCE). His current areas of interest include: forensic sciences, biometry, evidence, chemistry and Pharmaceutics.