OF JERUSALEM

The Leonard Sainer Legal Education Foundation in London offers an award enabling the recipient to undertake the one-year LLM degree course at University College London (UCL) starting in September 2019. The candidate will also have the opportunity to work with Dechert LLP (the international law firm coordinating the scholarship) or another appropriate law firm in London. Arrangements will also be made, if possible, for the candidate to spend time working with a High Court Judge.

Award

- LLM tuition fees
- a monthly stipend
- one return economy airfare
- The award does not cover costs for accompanying family members

Selection Criteria

Applicants:

- must be graduates of the Law Faculty, Hebrew University
- or be students who will have obtained their first degree in Law from the Hebrew University by the summer of 2019
- must commit to returning to Israel at the end of their period of study unless otherwise agreed with the sponsors. The sponsors reserve the right to require repayment of the cost of the scholarship if the successful candidate does not return within the designated period.

Application Procedure

Application forms and guidance notes on how to complete the form are available at:
